

Because Cleaning MattersSM

A clean home environment is important. It is even more important to women with cancer.

We want women to focus on their health, while the cleaning services focus on their home. There are currently more than 700 home cleaning services providing benevolence cleaning to cancer patients but we need additional help to sustain the organization.

Cleaning For A Reason is a non-profit organization that is supported by individual donations and corporate sponsorships. For more information about the sponsorship program call the Foundation office at (877) 337-3348.

american cleaning instituteSM
for better living

What people are saying about the cleaning services provided by the Foundation

“Thank you all for the help in this time of trauma.”

“It really does make a difference to know that there are people in the world who truly do “serve others” with a joyful spirit.”

“Cleaning For A Reason is real help, for my mother who is going through treatment.”

“Please accept my heart-felt appreciation for the care and happiness you gave to me during a very difficult time in my life.”

The Foundation is looking for new partners so that more cancer patients can be served! If you use or know of a residential cleaning service that may like to become a partner, encourage them to visit www.cleaningforareason.org or call (877) 337-3348.

american cleaning instituteSM
for better living

About ACI:

ACI is committed to safer, healthier and cleaner living for consumers. Through ACI's community outreach, partnerships, educational programs and social media, the Institute works to create better living for individuals, families and communities. Partnering with organizations like Cleaning For A Reason improves the lives of people, one home at a time. To learn more about our educational programs, contact nbock@cleaninginstitute.org.

www.cleaninginstitute.org